TESTIMONIALS.

Mrs. H. M. P. Allen, No. 728 Chestnut Street,

Philadelphia, deposes:

"The Grover & Baker far exceeds any other machine for dress-making and general family use. The stitch also is more beautiful and durable than any other stitch that I know of. The machine is so simple in its construction of parts and its practical operation, that it is very difficult to get it out of order, and any operative can manage it. It is the only machine which has yet succeeded in embroidery."

Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher writes:

"More than two-thirds of all the sewing done in my family for the last two years has been done by Grover & Baker's Machine, and I have never had a garment rip or need mending, except those rents which foolish boys will make in the most valuable of any I have tried."

THE OLD MAN'S DREAM.

Oh for one hour of youthful joy,
Give back my twentieth spring;
I'd rather laugh a bright haired boy
Than reign a bearded king.

Oh money! my life-blood stream
From thy god's fount of flame!
Dig me one giddy, reeling dream
Of life, all love and fame.

Listening angel heard the prayer,
And calmly smiling said:
"If I but touch thy silver hair, Thy happy wish hath sped."

That is there nothing in thy track,
To bid thee fondly stay,
While the swift seasons hurry back
To find the wished-for day?

Ah, truest soul of woman-kind!
Without thee what were life?
One bliss I cannot leave behind;
I'll take—my—precious—wife!

The angel too, a sapphire pen
The household with its noise
The man would be a boy again,
And be a husband too!

And is there nothing yet unsaid
Before the close appears?
Remember all thy gifts have fled
With these dissolving years?

Why, yes; for memory would recall
My fond paternal joys;
I could not bear to leave them all—
I'll take—my—girls—and—boys!

The smiling angel dropped his pen:
The household with its noise
The man would be a boy again,
And be a father too!

And so I laughed—my laughter woke
I wrote my dream when morning broke,
To please the gray-haired boys.

To Our Subscribers.

Peach Season is nearly over, and all are presumed to be more or less improved in their finances; and we urgently invite the attention of our friends and patrons to the bills which we are now sending forth. None of them are large; but "mony a mickle makes a muckle." We are very anxious to get our business settled, and want money.

A speedy compliance with our request will greatly oblige.

THE EDITORS OF THE TRANSCRIPT.

The Election Last Tuesday.

The Inspectors' Election on Tuesday was most disastrous, in its result, to the Democracy. Almost everywhere throughout the State, the Republicans were suffered to make apparent gains. Many old Democratic strongholds were carried by the Grant party, and the Democratic forces were beaten on their own ground. Even White Clay Creek Hundred, the "Little Berks" of Delaware, elected a Republican Inspector! There is no just cause for this. The Republicans have not the majority in most of the precincts they carried last Tuesday, and the election went in their favor solely because of the apathy and indifference of Democrats. Hundreds of staunch old Democrats, many of them leaders in the party, refused to go to the polls at all, but treated the matter with utter indifference. Had there been a full vote polled, the result would doubtless have been very different.

The office of the Inspector is one of great importance and responsibility, and the Democrats should have made every effort to secure the election of their candidates wherever it was at all practicable. Instead of this, by their culpable negligence they have allowed the Republicans to elect Inspectors in places where Republicans never were chosen before. If this condition of things continues the State election will show a different result from that of 1870. There is no necessity for this, and it ought not to be. It is simply the result of a misunderstanding among Democrats in reference to the action of the Baltimore Convention. There are hundreds and thousands of men in the State, who have always been Democrats, who will not support the nominees of that convention. In regard to this we entertain the same opinion we did at the first: If gentlemen do not want to vote for Mr. Greeley, they are no obligation to do so. In that respect let every one consult his own judgment, and vote as best suits his own inclination, but for the sake of the credit of the State, let all Democrats of Delaware be at peace among themselves. We have ever cautioned and warned our readers against "falling out by the way." We need the whole strength of the party; we want every vote; we have none to spare. It will not do for men who will not vote for Greeley to refuse to vote for Greeley-men, nor will it do for Greeley-men to talk about anti-Greeley-men having "no right to a voice in the councils of the party." It is just such teachings as these that have brought defeat and disgrace upon us.

Though in other States, for political purposes, Democrats have thought it useless to make nominations, and have united with the Liberal wing of the Republican party, in Delaware the Democrats have made their own selections. "There is no Liberal Republican party, as such, in this State." There are, it is true, many liberal men who, disgusted with the narrow, narrow-mindedness of the Grant party, have thrown their influence into the Democratic scale, and voted with that party. But there are no such men. Therefore, Democrats have not the excuse of "no right to a voice in the councils of the party." It is just such teachings as these that have brought defeat and disgrace upon us.

men refused to vote it because some of the candidates were known to be Greeley-men, and others because some were anti-Greeley-men.

Now the selection of candidates was made without reference to this "stumbling stone" over which so many have fallen and the candidates were chosen only with reference to their qualifications for the positions, and men who refused to support them on such flimsy excuses were guilty of great injustice to themselves and their fellows.

We have from time to time since the endorsement of Mr. Greeley at Baltimore called upon Democrats to lay aside all questions of the expediency or wisdom of the action of that convention. Foreseeing that honest men of the party would differ in that respect, we cautioned them against permitting their disputes to affect the home election, but to rally to the support of the State ticket, and leave men to do as they pleased in other respects.

Now Fellow-Democrats, we earnestly advise you to take warning by the lesson you received last Tuesday. If you don't want to vote for Mr. Greeley don't do it. If you think it wise, and the best course to be pursued, to vote for Greeley and Brown, go ahead; give them all the support you can, but for the sake of the honor of your State and of posterity, don't let another election go by default from carelessness, or from dislike to old Horace Greeley. We have an excellent Congressional and Legislative ticket this Fall, and if we try, and Democrats all pull together we can elect it without much trouble. Indifference here where so much is at stake is exceedingly censurable. Every intelligent man knows, from the sad experience of the South, that the triumph of the Republican party would be an incalculable misfortune. Let us then be up and doing. Laying aside all differences of opinion in minor matters, let us all pull together with a will and with unanimity, and perhaps the defeat of last Tuesday may be a useful lesson for the future.

A large and enthusiastic Republican meeting was held on Monday evening, at Middletown, and was addressed by H. F. Pickles, Esq., and the Rev. T. G. Stewart.—Smyrna Times.

The above is an error. There was no Republican or any other meeting held in Middletown on that date. There was, we believe, a motley gathering that night at "Hamtown," the negro quarters on the outskirts of Middletown, but surely the Times don't mean that.

On Tuesday next, State elections will be held in Indiana, Nebraska, Ohio, and Pennsylvania. The result is looked forward to with great interest in political circles, as foreshadowing the result in November. These States hold the balance of power.

EVERY EVENING comes to us enlarged in size and improved in appearance. We are pleased to see this marked evidence of success, and hope the business of the paper will go on increasing.

We hope those of our friends whose advertisements were not changed this week will excuse us, we were so pressed with job work this week that we could not get time to attend to them.

Folio Supplement.

A rich folio of contents comprises the October Folio, edited by George Lowell Austin. There is an original poem, entitled "A Rogation," an interesting sketch "A First Appearance," "Not so bad after all," an amusing chapter on "The New Chronicles," "Musical Queries Answered," "Tidings from London," "Poor Musicians," "Nilsson's Honeymoon," "Pauline Lucas," "Queer Customs," &c. Some more snappy editorials, and the usual amount of fresh and timely items. The music in the number is excellent, comprising a sweet ballad "Mother meet me at the Beautiful Gate," by C. A. White; a charming duet and quartette "Let me to Thy Bosom Fly," by E. H. Bailey, and Johann Strauss' "Pictures in the Air" polka-mazurka. The music alone is worth a year's subscription. There is also a choice likeness of Frederick Chopin, the eminent composer. The publishers still continue to give the beautiful chromo "Two to One," to every new subscriber, at $1.00 a year. Address White, Smith & Perry, 298 & 300 Washington Street, Boston.

KEY COUNTY.

[From the Kent News.]

KENNESAW TOWN.—The tournament of K. of P. of Still Pond, came off at Kennesaw, on Thursday, according to previous announcement. The number in attendance was not large, estimated at about five hundred. Twenty-three knights contested for the prize and honors. The riding was quite spirited, but in general was hardly equal to that we have seen on similar occasions. A novel feature of the occasion was the standing of several knights in short stirrups, which brought them in close proximity with the rings, and some of those who rode in this manner were rewarded for their hardihood by being thrown from their horses. The tilting resulted in a tie between Ash Wilson, Knight of the Lone Star, and George T. Tamm, Knight of Galena, both of whom rode standing, and took all three of the rings on every tilt; but on riding off for the first prize, Mr. Wilson, after taking all of the rings, fell from his horse and lost them, which was equivalent to having taken none, the judges having made a rule that the rings must be delivered to them from the spear. Mr. Tamm, however, very promptly informed the judges that he declined to accept the prize under the circumstances, and insisted upon his competitor having another tilt. Mr. Wilson, however, declined to ride, fearing that his horse would throw him again. The judges thereupon awarded the first prize, a handsome gold watch and chain, to Mr. Tamm, who very reluctantly consented to accept it, and the second prize, a beautiful double-barreled gun, to Mr. Wilson. The third prize, a superior outfit to be won by Garrett Foxwell, Knight of Rose Hill. The fourth prize, the privilege of choosing the third maid of honor, was won by Edw. Benny, Knight of Mount Rose, after a spirited contest between four tilting knights.

The tilting being over, the victorious knight chose Miss Lizzie Dyer as queen of Love and beauty; Miss Ella Medders, of Galena, was chosen first maid of honor; Miss A. Jones, second maid of honor, and Miss Lou Miller, third maid of honor. The closing address was made by William Gallinger, Esq., of Still Pond, who in a very instructive production upon the rise and progress of chivalry, entertained the audience for nearly half an hour.

CECIL COUNTY.

COURT.—The Grand Jury found thirteen indictments, "true bills," and "ignored" two, as follows: Larceny, four; assault and battery, six; selling liquor without license, two; and keeping a disorderly house, one. Of those "ignored" one was for assault and battery, and the other against the Cecil Way for libel.

The only criminal case disposed of last week was: State vs. Michael Stapp; indicted for selling liquor without proper license; plea of guilty confessed, and sentenced to pay a fine of $20 and costs, total $25.83. C. McCullough for State; Biddle for defendant.

DEATH.—Wm. H. Ricketts, Esq. for a long time connected with the clerk's office, and for six years clerk, died in Elkton, on Monday last week, aged fifty-three years. He was in the clerks office from 1842 until 1865, a period of twenty-three years. On the Wednesday after his death, the members of the Bar met and passed resolutions commendatory of Mr. Ricketts, and resolved to attend his funeral in a body.

OFFICE HOURS.—The local reporter of the Delaware has been elected to the office of clerk of the court, and will hold office for one year. In the Court House, on Saturday night last, a meeting to form a Grant and Wilson Club consisted of twenty-five persons, eleven of whom were officers, some all the way from Washington, while others hail from Baltimore.

Penninsula Fruit Growers' Association.

The regular autumnal meeting of the Peninsula Fruit Growers' Association will be held in the State House, at Dover, on Tuesday, Oct. 15, 1872, at 2 o'clock, P. M.

At this meeting the following subjects are likely to come before the Association: 1. Freight, and the best means of getting fruit to market.

2. New markets, and the best means of establishing them.

3. Fraudulent failures of commission merchants, and how to guard against them.

4. Canneries, dryeries, and other methods of fruit preparation or consumption.

5. Over-production, and the best means of preventing it.

6. What legislation, if any, is necessary to protect the fruit-growing interest from unjust exactions.

In view of the great interest at stake, and its increasing magnitude every year, every fruit grower on the Peninsula is earnestly urged to attend this meeting, as it is of great importance to the Association are particularly requested to be present.

J. ALEXANDER FULTON, Sec'y.

Dover, Oct. 1, 1872.

Middletown Academy.

The school at the Academy, now in the third week of the session, numbers about thirty scholars. This is nearly as many as it usually averages, and has seldom numbered so many so soon after the opening of the school. The prospects are favorable for one of the most prosperous years in the history of the Academy. The building now contains an able faculty for every branch of study taught in the best schools. The extensive addition and improvements that are being made will add greatly to the facilities for carrying on the institution. No pains will be spared to make the school one of the best, and the aim will be to give the scholars a thorough course of instruction.

The system of giving prizes, which was adopted the past year, has worked admirably well and will be continued to a limited extent. For the present term prizes will be given as follows:

Two to each in the classical and modern languages, those making the greatest proficiency in penmanship. A strict record will be kept of the conduct and scholarship and days absence of each scholar, and be printed at the close of the term.

The Election in Middletown.

The Little Election on Tuesday last, was the first test of the electoral college in this State, and although it was a strange sight to Middletown eyes to see long files of negroes marching up to the window of Ortilly's Hotel to deposit tickets in the ballot box, everything passed off quietly and in order. There was no jarring and no excitement. Much indifference was manifested, and the vote was light. The Democrats elected Wm. Wood, Esq. their candidate for Inspectors of West St. George, by a majority of 5 votes. Whole number of votes polled 278, as follows: Inspector, Wm. Wood, Dem. 139; Samuel Pennington, Rep. 132; Assessor, C. T. Stratton, Dem. 148; T. B. Stephens, Rep. 130; Road Commissioner, M. E. Walker, Dem. 138; A. E. Holten, Rep. 140. In East St. George, H. A. Newland, Dem. for Inspectors, received 106 votes; Joseph Cleaver, Rep. 104; C. T. Stratton, 105; T. B. Stephens, 108; M. E. Walker, 112; A. E. Holten, 153.

The Little Election.

The election passed off very quietly and without excitement. Very little interest was manifested, especially on the part of the Democrats. The Republicans claim great gains throughout the State.

The Democrats carried Brandywine Hundred by an average majority of 24; White Clay Creek, 5; Appoquinimink, 198; New Castle, 119. The Republicans carried Wilmington, by a majority of 148; Christians, 88; St. George, 23; Pender, 68; Red Lion, 28; Mill Creek, 37.

In the county the Republicans had a small majority. This is estimated from the vote cast for Road Commissioners who ran through the whole of the several Hundreds.

Delaware City Items.

The election in East Red Lion Hundred, resulted as follows: Democratic, 99 votes; American, 98; Road Commissioner, 93. Republican, Inspector, 111; Assessor, 107; Road Commissioner, 111. There were 33 colored votes polled in the district.

The whole strength of neither party was present, except the "American citizens of African descent." The Hundred has held a Republican majority since 1855.

Deputy Coroner B. W. Shaffer, held an inquest upon the body of Joseph Fayle, on Friday, September 27th, 1872, late a seaman on the schooner S. B. Wheeler. The deceased fell from the masthead and was killed almost instantly. He was about 20 years of age and a Portuguese by birth. Verdict accidental. His remains were interred in the Delaware City Cemetery.

A PUMPKIN RACE.—A few days since we were shown a pumpkin vine that grew as flat as a hand, and measured 14 inches broad at the widest part, and 6 inches broad at the narrowest part. It was entirely covered with blossoms and young pumpkins were about six weeks.

Danahy Ash, a lad about 10 years' old, fell from the third story of the new Granary now being erected in this city, and wonderful to relate received no injuries.

Donal Strong, a lad living in this city, a few nights since, whilst turning down the wick of a coal oil lamp, the oil exploded, burning his right arm and having very severely injured his face and head.

Last week Mr. George Barlow, Esq., of Philadelphia, 8 calves which weighed 2,200 lbs. They were raised by Mr. Thos. Dittworth, living near Port Penn. The average age was about six weeks.

Sunday School Picnic.

The children's picnic of the Sunday schools connected with the Forest Presbyterian Church and Armstrong's chapel, on Friday of last week, was a very pleasant and successful affair. At an early hour in the morning several peach wagons with sleighs and the horses came into town, and the little ones were gathered together and carried up to the Armstrong's chapel, where, as the woods were too wet, the day was spent in the hall. The closing address was made by William Gallinger, Esq., of Still Pond, who in a very instructive production upon the rise and progress of chivalry, entertained the audience for nearly half an hour.

Minor Topics.

Some professional pick pockets with the circus last week, whilst in this town, relieved Mr. William Casey, of Masses' Cross Roads, Md., of $320, and Mr. Wm. Sherwood, of this town, of $25. The party had been previously arrested at Elkton, or perhaps greater raids would have been made.—Smyrna Times.

The formal opening of the Wilmington and Western Railroad from Wilmington to London, Pa., took place on the 19th of the present month. On the 21st, the road will be opened for business. M. C. Conwell, formerly of Dover, has been elected Superintendent.

Warwick Items.

At a meeting of the Philomathean Literary Society, on Tuesday evening, October 1st, 1872, the following question was chosen for discussion Wednesday evening, October 3rd: Resolved, that Columbus deserves more praise for the discovery of America than Washington for defending it.

The disputants are: Affirmative, Bell, Morton, Wilson; Negative, Wright, Marsh, Hendrickson. The discussion will take place in the public schoolhouse.

Sudden Death of a Prominent Citizen.

We regret to learn that William J. Hurlock, Esq. died very suddenly at his residence in St. Georges on Thursday afternoon. Mr. Hurlock was, to all appearances, in good health when he ate his dinner, and his death was a great shock to his friends. He was in his nineteenth year.

Divine Service.

There will be Divine Service held in the chapel at Armstrong's Corner, to-morrow afternoon, at 3 o'clock. Preaching by Rev. John Patton, D. D. All who can are invited to be present.

Forney's Philadelphia Press of this date, contains the following editorial in relation to the election held yesterday in the State of Georgia:

"Some time since the Georgia Legislature passed a law, by which the State poll tax was made ten dollars. This law practically disfranchises the negroes, while to the white Democrats—who have either the money to pay the tax, or the able knavery to evade its payment—it offers no hindrance to any amount of voting.

In view of these facts, yesterday's forty thousand Democratic majority is not to be wondered at; it is only odd that the majority is not considerably larger than the whole number of inhabitants of the State."

The Press has lately professed to have espoused the cause of reform, and really seemed to be laboring under a paroxysm of honesty. But whilst it is constantly holding some of its political friends up to the contempt of the public, for violating the sixth, with an audacity that shows long practice in guilt, it freely and fearlessly disregards the ninth commandment.

In the paragraph quoted above it is not only guilty of untruth, but, also, of a mean, dirty slander upon the white people of Georgia.

The poll tax of the State of Georgia, is only one dollar, and not ten; and the charge of illegal voting, against any people, comes with bad grace from one who is at the same time a resident of Philadelphia, which, according to its oft-repeated statement, is the head quarters of political corruptionists, and an upholder of the villainously and notoriously corrupt carpet-baggers who have tyrannized over and plundered the South.

Oct. 3, 1872. JUSTICE.

In accordance with a recent act of Congress, after the first of October no revenue stamps are required upon any legal document whatever, no paper being now subject to stamp duty except checks, drafts, and orders drawn at sight, or on demand, upon banks, bankers, or trust companies.

The act referred to also exchanges stamps from stamp duty all foreign bills of exchange. A radical and desirable change has thus been effected in the system of internal revenue, but what effect it will have upon the government receipts remains to be seen.

It is not altogether unlikely that the Government of the United States will soon be called upon to pay a little bill made out against her by Spain, on account of alleged damages sustained by that Power by filibustering expeditions from American ports to Cuba. It is reported that the Spanish authorities have determined to submit the question to other European Powers for adjudication, and if they succeed in establishing the justice of their claims it is difficult to see how Uncle Sam can escape the payment of the sum that may be agreed upon.

Peach season is about over, the shipmen being but a few baskets per day. Mr. R. B. Cochrane will, we understand, have a few of the Galaxy variety next week.

Correspondence of the Middletown Transcript.

MASSA. EDITORS:—Last week, through the kind invitation of that most genial gentleman and best of ministers, Rev. John Patton, D. D. of the Forest Presbyterian Church, I made a visit to Newark, during the sitting of the Presbytery. This was the more readily induced to do as I was to be accompanied in my ride by two of Middletown's loveliest daughters. Accordingly, taking as early a start as the immense pressure of business, that fell upon us that day like lightning from a summer cloud, would permit, I drove leisurely—the Sun was too hot and my company too good for anything else—over to Newark, reaching there somewhere about half past one o'clock P. M., and at once proceeded to the "Deer Park Mansion House," kept by Alex. Laws, Esq., who, with his amiable lady, entertained us in a kind and hospitable manner. Here we were met by the pastor of the Newark Presbyterian Church, Rev. G. H. Porter, who welcomed us most cordially, and courteously invited us to attend the meeting of the Presbytery then in session. Accepting his invitation, we found the different ministers engaged in giving in their reports of the state of their various churches. The Moderator would frequently remind them that it was the religious state of the churches which was to be reported, but somehow the brethren could not refrain from speaking of the financial affairs of their respective charges. Many of the reports were very interesting, and showed a flourishing condition of things in the churches of the Peninsula. One Clergyman rendered a very brilliant report of the spiritual condition of his flock, and gave a glowing description of his labors of love, declaring that he was truly a happy man. I was heartily rejoiced to find that there was no exception to the universal rule that "man is of few days and full of trouble," and that there was, in "this wilderness of tears," one happy and, of course, contented man, when, leaving the spiritual, he descended to the financial condition of his people, and told the Presbytery he wanted $700. We are all alike!

The present condition of the Presbytery is very encouraging; it numbers 42 ministers, some 54 churches and about 120 elders.

The new Presbyterian church of Newark, in which the Presbytery met, is a very handsome building, and reflects great credit upon those whose perseverance and energy succeeded in getting together the necessary funds to erect so costly a structure.

Leaving the church, we went up to the college and called upon the President, W. H. Parnell, Esq., who received us most cordially and invited us to walk through the college buildings, but being somewhat pressed for time we were forced to decline his invitation. We next walked down to the Academy to call upon our old friend Col. E. D. Porter. Both college and Academy are doing well. But since young ladies have been admitted to the college it scarcely seems the same place it once was.

We next called upon "Judge" Ray. That good natured individual engaged in a game of "croquet" with two college boys, who were heartily delighted whenever they got a chance to send the squire's ball flying down "the lane." The Judge seemed to enjoy the fun as much as the other boys. I was sorry that I could not spend more time with "Squire Ray," but threatening clouds warned me that if I wanted to get home without a "ducking," I had better be off. So, having hunted up my fair companions I started for Middletown, too late, however, to escape rain. Scarcely had we left Newark when the dark clouds began to pour their watery contents upon us, first slowly and gently, but like the dance of Pau-puk-kee-wis, increasing steadily in strength and violence, followed by darkness of almost Egyptian texture, while ever and anon, the thunder's roar and lightning's flash sent dismay to the hearts of the ladies. Unable to resist the tender pleadings of the gentle beings at my side, as well as the warnings of the rain drops which now began to wet us through, we turned our horse's head toward the hospitable mansion of that excellent gentleman, Mr. C. B. E., where we met with a most cordial reception and hospitable entertainment, those kind persons not forgetting to obey the Scripture precepts about entertaining strangers, but in this particular instance they did not have to run the risk of entertaining angels unaware, having I was sandwiched between two. Having spent a very pleasant and agreeable night, that fully repaid us for having been caught in the rain, we went on our way as early as possible next morning, our hearts filled with emotions of the liveliest gratitude to our kind friends in a time of need, and reached home just before the arrival of the circus, fully impressed with the idea that we had had a visit. Respectfully Yours, Oct. 1st, 1872. KIMBER.

United States District Court.

U. S. vs. New Castle Co. Levy Court.

CONTINENTAL HOTEL, } October 3d, 1872.

EDW. D. REYNOLDS, Esq.—Dear Sir:—The Court met this morning, and after the Judge reading an opinion, based upon the facts of the above case so far as he has been able to hear, and which was neither for or against the defendants, the Court adjourned at 11½ A. M., to meet on the same case Tuesday week, the 15th inst. The probabilities are that they will, in this way, adjourn the Court on this case from time to time until after the election is over, making an electioneering scheme of it, and trying to give their charges the appearance of validity, and finally adjourn, quashing the indictment.

Yours Truly, W.

OF R. B. Bullock, Georgia's absconding Gov. a London (Canada) correspondent of the N. Y. World writes: "The Gov. lives in one of the finest suburban residences about this city. His house is furnished magnificently, his stud is of the finest stock, his turnout unsurpassed, and he says he has concluded to make London his residence for the future."

Political Notes.

Mr. Benjamin Wood, proprietor of the N. Y. Daily News, bet $10,000 that Greeley would be elected, and put up $1,000 forfeit money in the hands of Morrissey. But instead of covering his bet he gave up the forfeit money, as will be seen by the following:

New York, September 7, 1872.

Hon. John Morrissey: Sir—Please pay to Joseph A. Monheimer the one thousand dollar forfeit money now in your hands, on the bet of $10,000 made by me that Horace Greeley would be elected next President, I having forfeited the same.

Very Respectfully, B. Wood.

The election for Governor, which took place in Georgia, Tuesday, resulted in an overwhelming Democratic victory. Returns from all parts of the State show enormous gains over the Governor's election in 1868. The Democratic candidate, it is estimated, is elected by nearly thirty thousand majority. In Augusta, last night, the greatest enthusiasm was manifested, and the city was illuminated by bonfires. Salutes were fired, and other demonstrations of rejoicing made.

That the Radical majority in Ohio will be greatly reduced next week, if not entirely overcome, seems to be conceded by the knowing ones of both parties. Thousands of Republicans have "come out from among the foul party," and have united themselves with the Liberal column. The Democracy are hopeful of a good result, and are leaving nothing undone to achieve a brilliant triumph.

E. K. Wilson, of Worcester, was nominated on the sixth ballot, at Princess Anne, on Thursday of last week, as a candidate for Congress in place of Judge Carmichael, who declined the nomination. Mr. Wilson is a gentleman of ability and worth, and will make a good representative.

Purgative Pills have become a settled necessity with the American people. Indeed, cathartics always have been and always must be used, in some form, by all mankind. In this country the popular form of administration has been growing in favor since pills were first made of Aloe and Rhubarb, rolled into a ball, their high position in the public confidence has finally been secured and fastened into permanency by Ayer's Cathartic Pills, the most skillful combination of medicine for the diseases they are intended to cure, that science could devise, and art produce. Those who need pills, no longer hesitate what pills to take if they can get Ayer's Pills.—Wheeler (Va.) Press.

Greeley and Breckinridge.

"Galt" of the Chicago Tribune, writes
as follows from Louisville:

Colonel Thomas, a prominent merchant of this city when asked to-day what the position of John C. Breckinridge might be on the nomination of Greeley, gave the following anecdote:

After Greeley's nomination, Mr. Breckinridge was asked if he could afford to support him. Breckinridge replied that he thought he could, and said that after the war had closed he opened his mail one morning, and found therein a letter, in difficult handwriting, which required some time to interpret it. It proved to be a letter from Horace Greeley, and was about to the following effect: Mr. Greeley said to Mr. Breckinridge that he was aware that the latter personage in the South had influence, intellect and popularity. "Such persons as you," said Mr. Greeley, "we require to come back to the country, and bring it to its legitimate status. Don't remain away subject to the party spleen which will shortly overwhelm you, but come back again amongst your friends, neighbors and fellow-citizens, and help us to rebuild the country. If I can be of any influence as a Republican editor I will give you my help to return to the country and take your place again in the ranks, where you legitimately belong, as one of the leaders of the Southern popular." Breckinridge read this letter. He had never met Greeley, and when he came to the city of New York, induced to return to this country by this missive, he thought decency demanded that he should call upon Uncle Horace. He spent half an hour with Greeley, and was profoundly touched with the softness of disposition and large magnanimity of the Liberal candidate.

Some time ago—not more than three weeks perhaps—the B. Duncan Bourbons of Kentucky endeavored to make some point upon Breckinridge, and he told them the story named above; and when he told it his eyes filled with tears, and he said he could support Greeley, and was only melancholy from the fact that any word he might say in favor of that old philanthropist might be quoted to Greeley's injury.

M. C. Mitchell was elected U. S. Senator by the Oregon Legislature on Saturday. He received 41 votes, Corbett 12, and Prince 4.

TO FARMERS.

WE call your attention to the following statement made by two of the most prominent farmers in this locality. We hope that the wheat raisers in this section will study their interest and give this Guano trial. The Guano can be obtained on the most reasonable conditions from J. B. FOARD, Middletown,
and C. Watkins, Odessa.

Middletown, Del. July 15th, 1872.

Messrs. John S. Ross & Co. Philadelphia.

Gentlemen:—I purchased from your Agent, Mr. J. B. Foard, of this town, several tons of your Pacific Guano last spring, and applied it to my corn at the rate of one hundred to three hills. I have been farming from three to six hundred acres of land for the past fourteen years, and during that time have used a great deal of Phosphate and Guano of various kinds, but yours has done more good up to the present than any I ever tried. I left out some lands without any Guano, and now they look like they though they would make much more than half as much corn as where I applied the Guano. If you will only keep up the standard of your fertilizer, I am sure you can sell a vast amount here.
Yours truly, E. R. COCHRAN.

Messrs. John S. Ross & Co. Philadelphia.

Dr. Sirs:—I have been induced by your Agent at Middletown, Mr. J. B. Foard, to try the merits of your Pacific Guano on corn this spring, and I cheerfully testify that the results have far exceeded my expectations.

I consider that your Guano is the best Fertilizer I have used, and my experience has not been in any way limited. I shall make liberal use of it on future crops, and shall use it this fall on wheat.

penquin Hundred, two miles from Townsend, on the Delaware railroad; buildings worth $5,000; 80 acres clear. Price, $5,000—very cheap.

No. 21.—Three acres of land in Warwick, under good fencing, in fair condition and well set in grass. Price, $375.

No. 22.—A farm of 4280 acres, beautifully situated on Delaware Bay, known as Bombay Hook, containing 4,280 acres, 300 upland, 150 improved meadow, 120 are in peaches, 150 in corn, 185 in wheat, balance in grass; the unimproved meadow could be easily reclaimed, having no river bank, and every acre by an energetic man could be made worth $100 with little expense; the upland is worth the amount asked as truck soil; cannot be surpassed, and would furnish thousands of tons of hay; there are steamboats leaving the farm every day for Philadelphia, and there are advantages of fish, oysters, and gunning of much profit; there are three of buildings, and would divide elegantly, having nine miles of river front, and will be exchanged in part for city property; price $5
